Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Monday 12 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Sunny spells for most and a few showers Tuesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some heavy showers in central and western parts this evening, dying out before midnight. East cloudy with some rain, mainly focused around coastal fringes where more persistent outbreaks expected during the evening. Some long clear spells developing in west.

Tuesday:
Western, central areas warm, sunny and mostly dry with afternoon showers lighter and more isolated than of late. East starting dull with some patchy light rain, but brightening from south.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Warm for most with light winds and, especially in central and eastern parts, strong sunshine, Western and northern coasts rather cloudy with patchy rain or drizzle.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.